Call to Worship (Inspired by John 1:46 and Psalm 139)

Christine Woodward

One: Can anything good come out of this world?

Many: Come and see.

One: Can anything good come out of Missouri?

Many: Come and see.

One: Can anything good come out of St. Louis?

Many: Come and see.

One: Can anything good come out of the Church?

Many: Come and see.

One: O God, can anything good come out of all this mess?

Many: Come and see.

One: From the prophets to the poets, liberators and leaders, faithful followers and reliable witnesses, four-legged friends, and the very plants that give forth clean air for us to breath... there is goodness still to be found all around us.

Many: God creates goodness from this earth. God creates goodness all around.

One: Friends, come and let us worship our God!

This text was written for the 1979 National Meeting of United Presbyterian Women, whose theme, "In the Image of God," is variously considered here as reflection, focus, distortion, and polishing for clarity. The words are well set to an anonymous 19th-century American tune.
